BARBECUE, FRIED CHICKEN WATERMELON CUTTINGS SPARK FAMILY REUNION

Mrs. Grady Johnston and her children, Kimball Johnston, Lane Johnston, of Emory University, and Miss Mary Jon Johnston were hosts on Saturday and Sunday to a family reunion of the Lane family.

On Saturday the group was served barbecue in the backyard under the lovely shade trees. In the middle of the afternoon, they enjoyed an old-fashioned watermelon cutting. Sunday morning, John Gee made candid and formal group pictures. Chicken Every Sunday was the theme of the midday meal and during the afternoon, a five-gallon freezer of homemade peach ice cream was served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lane Sr., Mrs. Johnston's parents; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lane Jr. and J. L. II, and daughters, Misses Jean and Emile Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Flournoy, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lane and daughter, Lena; Mr. and Mrs. Grady Redman, all of Monticello; Mr. and Mrs. Max Redman, and son, Jimmy, of Jackson; Hugh and Jimmy Malone of Charlotte, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Drew, Miss Billie Jean Drew and Charles Drew of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jackson, Miss Adelle Jean Jackson of Lakeland, Fla.; and Mrs. Mamie McDonald of Dallas, Tex.

YOU'RE INVITED. Yes, you're invited to the big Jaycee-sponsored beauty-revue and dance, which takes place Monday night at 8 in the high school gymnasium. Happy Applewhite and his orchestra will provide music for the evening.

Some ten young ladies from Statesboro and Bulloch county will take part in the beauty revue and one of them will walk away with the title, "Miss Statesboro-Miss Bulloch County," and will win an all-expense paid trip to Columbus, Ga., where she will participate in the "Miss Georgia" contest.

There will be good music for dancing—and just for listening, if you're so inclined.

The executive director of the Savannah Chamber of Commerce, Cliff Davenport, spoke to the Jaycees yesterday at their regular meeting at Forest Heights Country Club. Mr. Davenport told the group of some of the problems of an organization such as he represents and he discussed the role of the South in years to come.

A short meeting of the board of directors followed yesterday's meeting.

Don't forget the next Jaycee meeting will be held at the Country Club on Thursday, August 4. A good program has been planned and every member is urged to come and bring another member with him.

District 4-H Meet In Progress Today
More than two hundred 4-H Club boys and girls from over southeast Georgia are in Statesboro today competing for places on the District 4-H team and to represent the district in the State Club Congress to be held in October.

Farm and home agents from 27 counties and many of the extension service specialists are here today and will remain until Saturday to complete the session. The group is stationed at Georgia Teachers College and most of the demonstrations are being given there. Some of the boys will be taken to farms nearby to do livestock judging.

A special feature is the showing of the famous 4-H picture, "Green Promise," at the Georgia Theatre. A special effort is being made to get all 1,300 county club members to see this movie. Demonstrations in all phases of club work and cook, sewing, livestock and talent numbers will be conducted.

Last-Place Cobras Take Two Straight Wins
The last-place Cobras came from the bottom this week to take two straight in the Senior Boys City League. The Cobras handed the Dynamites a 11-to-5 defeat with Billy Durette doing the hurling, giving up four hits and smacking out 15 kayos against the Dynamites. Manager Bobby Stubbs did the catching for the Cobras. C. P. Claxton did the pitching for the Dynamites with Rushing getting the credit for the loss.

In their second win of the week the Cobras used Meadows on the mound.

LAST YEAR'S WINNER—Miss Gwen West, "Miss Statesboro" and "Miss Georgia of 1948," will crown "Miss Statesboro-Miss Bulloch County" Monday night at 8 in the high school gymnasium.

Gulf Oil Operators Meet Thursday Night

Twenty service station operators who handle Gulf Oil Company products, met Thursday night at the Norris Hotel. The operators were from stations in Statesboro, Greenville, and Sylva.

W. M. Reynolds, district superintendent for the company, awarded bronze wall plaques to those dealers who had distinguished themselves with high oil sales in a recent contest. These awards went to Clinton Oliver and Clinton Dasher, Daniel Alexander, E. W. Mook, C. D. Griner, and Jack Timms.

C. N. Thomas received a certificate for ten years service under the Gulf banner.

Mr. Reynolds addressed the group on freedom of enterprise and competition in America.

OUTDOOR BARBECUE SUPPER
The outdoor kitchen in the rustic garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bannah Cowart was the scene of a barbecue supper last Wednesday. Mrs. Cowart was honoring her cousin, Mrs. C. G. Moye, of Dublin.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Claxton, Elder and Mrs. Henry Waters, Miss Elizabeth Lanier, and Miss Eva Clair Farriel.

Mrs. Cowart served barbecued pork, Brunswick stew, potato salad, carrot salad, pecan pie, and iced tea.

Miss Sara Betty Jones Selected As 'Miss Statesboro-Miss Bulloch County'
A lovely brunette, Miss Sara Betty Jones, has been chosen "Miss Statesboro-Miss Bulloch County" for 1949. Dressed in a white one-piece bathing suit, Miss Jones got the Judges' nod Monday night at the Jaycee-sponsored "Third Annual Beauty Revue."

She will represent the city and county in the "Miss Georgia" contest, slated for August in Columbus, Ga.

The revue was staged in the high school gymnasium. Each of 13 contestants paraded before the judges and were judged on poise, natural beauty, stage appearance, make-up, and other factors.

Miss Elaine West of Statesboro was named runner-up in the contest, which officially marked the opening of the 1949 tobacco selling season.

The winner was crowned by Miss Gwen West, last year's queen and "Miss Georgia of 1948." Seated in a royal "throne" on the stage during the revue was Miss Shirley Tiltman, Bulloch county's "Tobacco Queen" for 1948.

Miss Carolyn Bohler was awarded third place.

Worth McDougald acted as master of ceremonies. Dancing followed the revue, with music furnished by Harry Applewhite and his orchestra.

It is advertised as the "shortest, safest, quickest" Maine-to-Florida route.

National Guard's Aerial Show To Include 'Jets'
Taxpayers from over southeastern Georgia will get a look soon at how some of their money is being spent. Plans have almost been completed for a huge air show that will enable the people of this section to see the very latest in military airplanes—as well as civilian aircraft. These will include "jet" planes.

The Statesboro National Guard unit is sponsoring the air show Sunday afternoon, August 14, starting promptly at 3. A huge crowd is expected and tickets are already on sale in stores throughout Statesboro.

The entire Guard unit is acting as a committee for the event and a spokesman said they are receiving full cooperation of Navy, Air Force and National Guard officials. He said this would enable them to produce a much better air show than any civilian group. Proceeds from the show will be used to construct a lighted drill field for the local unit and none of the proceeds will go to any individual.

Present plans call for a three-hour show featuring hundreds of aircraft. The entire event is being covered by casualty insurance and full medical facilities and full firefighting apparatus will be on hand in case of accidents.

The Marietta National Guard Air Base is expected to furnish a flight of P-51 and P-57 fighters, as well as various other types of aircraft.

The Savannah Air National Guard unit, headed by Col. Kuhn, will bring its jet planes to the show. The planes will be shown in the air, and parked on the ramp where spectators will have a chance for a closer look.

Volume Up, Prices Down As Sales Begin On Local Tobacco Market

The long-awaited chants of the auctioneers became a reality in Statesboro Tuesday morning just a few seconds after nine o'clock and two sets of buyers started some of South Georgia's finest golden leaf on its trek to the factories.

Opening day prices were not as high as last year. The average paid for the day was $44 per hundred, which was $2.41 below opening day in 1948. The poundage sold Tuesday, however, was well above that of last year. In 1948, 596,336 pounds were sold on the first day, bringing growers $294,984 for an average of $49.41 per hundred.

This year the poundage rose to 678,406 and brought growers $296,641 for the $44 average given above. If the same ratio keeps up, the growers will get a smaller price but will get more money for their crop than they did last year. Belt-wide production is estimated to be 18 per cent greater than last year—more than enough to make up the opening day price sag.

On Wednesday 735,003 pounds were sold at an average of $43.17 bringing growers $317,310.

The Statesboro markets have been crowded since they began taking tobacco last week. Every day finds long lines of trucks waiting to unload the golden leaf. For the past three years there has been a steady flow of weed to market with about the same amount being sold as was coming in daily. This year the picture is different since most growers have practically all of their tobacco cured and ready for sale.

Wednesday, the local market sold some 700,000 pounds at an average of approximately $44 per hundred, bringing growers more than $300,000. The average Tuesday is reported to have risen some, indicating perhaps, that the market may stabilize at a higher average price as we go into the season.

Some growers have received as high as $62 per hundred for some piles and some have averaged as high as $57 for one entire sale.

The tobacco market opening was really apparent Tuesday — with what amounted to a "Saturday" crowd being on the street. Local business men said their business was beginning to swing upward, although most of them admitted it would be Saturday before a lot of money started moving.

Many merchants are getting sales underway to give the growers real value for their money. Many out-of-town newspaper reporters and photographers were on hand to tell the tobacco story to readers over the nation.

County Agent Byron Dyer said this week that he expects the Bulloch county crop to be larger than last year. And tobacco warehouse officials say they expect sales to rise above last year's figure.

The U. S. crop reporting board has estimated the 1949 crop in Georgia and Florida to be 131,708,000 pounds. If this production is realized the crop will exceed the 111,634,000 pounds produced in 1948 by almost 18 per cent. It would be the second largest crop in history, being surpassed only by the 1947 crop.

The department of agriculture reports that sales in the Georgia-Florida markets last year amounted to 120,690,013 pounds at an average price of $47.48 per hundred.

Quality of this year's crop seems to be better than last year. The healthy plants gave growers a good start and heavier fertilizer applications were made in most cases.

Sales regulations differ very little from last year. Sales time has been increased from 5 and 5 1/4 hours per day. Speed of sales will remain at 400 baskets per hour and maximum weight per basket is still 300 pounds.

These regulations were set by the board of governors of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association, this being the first time this association has set opening dates and sales regulations.

July Grand Jury Recesses Monday; To Continue Deliberations August 8

Judge J. L. Renfro this week charged the July Grand Jury to "investigate thoroughly" rumors of liquor activities in Bulloch county and make a report on their finds. He also asked the jurors to consider placing the names of Negroes in the panel for jury duty.

In an unusual move, the grand jury deliberated Monday on the judge's charges and then recessed until Monday, August 8, at which time they will reconvene. Meanwhile, Judge Renfro continued the July term of court, taking up four civil cases and one criminal charge. On Wednesday he adjourned the court for this term.

Another unusual move came when Judge Renfro appointed S. D. Groover, foreman of the grand jury. Officials said this was the first time such an appointment had been made, even though it is entirely within the judge's jurisdiction to do so, if he so desires.

The grand jury released no written presentations except to return three true-bills and one no-bill. Usually a grand jury conducts its deliberations, returns its presentations, and then adjourns.

In his lengthy charge to the grand jury the judge recommended that they

Sell Your Tobacco at Home

"Sell Your Tobacco in Statesboro." You often see it written in the papers during this season. You hear it on the radio. And maybe you ask yourself, "Why is it so important that I sell my tobacco in Statesboro, on the Statesboro market?"

Well, there are a lot of reasons. Let's look at a few.

The Statesboro market last year sold more pounds of tobacco than any other market in the entire state. Tobacco companies—the men who know tobacco—send their top men to Statesboro. For, on a large market they get more good, than on time spent, than on a small market. Tobacco companies know their buyers can find more tobacco. They know they can find more good tobacco and more money. Therefore, it's good business to send the top men where they can select from the greatest assortment. That is Statesboro.

A man—a buyer—who really knows tobacco can better recognize good tobacco when he sees it. If you have good tobacco you want good money. He can pay more because he knows he's getting his money's worth.

That's just one of the reasons. Another is this: On the Statesboro market you have men who have been in the tobacco business continually since it became a market crop in this section. They know how to market the golden leaf. They know how to get you more money. Experience counts in selling tobacco just like it does in laying brick.

On the Statesboro market you can take your choice of three warehouse firms. Each one has the personnel to serve you to the best of their ability. These are not "fly-by-night" concerns. They are men who have been in business here for more than 20 years. They know you. You know them. They are interested in you because more money for you helps them.

Another reason for selling on the market here is that Statesboro merchants and business men have worked for years to make the market the greatest in the state. They have put money and time into the undertaking. They know that helping you get more money for your crop is good business for them. They are interested in your trade. They are interested in your money. You will find the Statesboro market a friendly market. It's easy to sell. Naturally you may find the market temporarily blocked for a few days. It's bound to happen. But you need never wait more than a day or two at the most. And when your tobacco is weighed in the warehouseman can tell you the day and the hour when your leaf will be bid on. Then you don't waste time sitting the warehouseman when you should be dusting cotton.

People who have sold on the Statesboro market will tell you that you consistently, year after year, get a good price average. You will not lose money by selling in our city.

We, who live here, believe in our tobacco market. We endorse it wholeheartedly. We want to invite you to sell your tobacco on what we believe is Georgia's finest market.

Give it a try.

"ON THE BASIS OF PAST RECORDS, ONE OUT OF EVERY 17 FARM RESIDENTS WILL SUFFER A DISABLING INJURY AS A RESULT OF ACCIDENTS THIS YEAR."

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

First off this week, let's talk about highways.

Almost everyone of us, at some time or other, uses the highways of this and other states. We are feeding countless dollars in gasoline tax (one of the highest amounts of any other state in the nation, I believe) into highways—and, yet, apparently, it isn't enough. Right now (this is being written several days prior to publication date) the Legislature is considering Governor Talmadge's request for five million more dollars to help solve the highway crisis.

He asked that the tax on gasoline be raised another cent per gallon to take care of this additional money. One source says the state received more than ten million dollars in the month of May alone from gasoline and motor vehicle registration.

That we need the money, we can't deny. The highways are in a disgraceful state. We are chasing tourists into Alabama highways to get to Florida. And many merchants in Statesboro—any filling station operator along 301—any restaurant or tourist cabin operator can tell you that when we chase the tourists away, we're really losing money.

I think one estimate is that tourist trade averages some $10,000 per month in Statesboro alone—which is some spending. Just whose fault it is that the highways have run down isn't clear. Worrying about that isn't going to improve them. I'm not so sure that raising the tax on gasoline is going to improve them. It's certainly a fact that we're going to have to use gasoline as long as we ride—and most of our businesses depend upon being able to ride. We won't use much less gasoline.

But the tourists will.

When wedding bells quit ringing, we'll know that hearts aren't singing.

When lullabies are never heard from a loving mother's lips. We'll know that homes are merely houses where you live between trips.

But Jane keeps hearing wedding bells and babytantes reported. She still likes HERE and hopes to stay and never be deported.

HELEN JOHNSON and Willie Leggett's announcement, which appears this week, names September 4 as their wedding date. It is Jane's birthday. Upon mentioning the fact to Helen she said it is the birthday of Mrs. T. W. Rowse and Mrs. W. B. Johnson (Helen's grandmother). And it is the twenty-second wedding anniversary of her parents, Harry and Juanita Johnson.

I HAD AN interest in experience last week. In a phone conversation with Mary Cannon (Mrs. Hollis), she suddenly asked me to wait for her to see about Marsha and Benny. I had heard no shrieks or sound effects that you get when Fibber McGee opens the closet door at Wistful Vista, but when Mary returned she explained,

"Gather roses while they bloom. Tomorrow is yet far away. Moments lost have no room. In tomorrow or today."

RETIRE BEFORE YOU NEED RETREADING?

If you read Sunday's Atlanta Constitution, you saw Celestine Sibley's feature story concerning life expectancy and aged folks.

According to insurance companies, people are living longer all the time, but according to the old man mentioned in Celestine's article, they are "wearing out their welcome."

Of all those over 65, only one-fourth are employed and these people are predominantly farmers. The other three-fourths are just existing—some on their savings, some on pensions, a few in homes of relatives, and other in homes for the aged and ill.

The happiest ones, no doubt, are those who are earning their own way and running their own lives.

Too many children dodge the responsibility of supporting their aged parents and too many homes have too few rooms to accommodate relatives.

It isn't that young folks have stopped loving and respecting the aged, but they are an impatient lot and in too much of a hurry to wait for or wait on those who have been slowed down by years of loving service.

At home last Christmas, I saw Harry Crawley in Lyons Super Market. Harry is a local lawyer subject of CTOC in '39 A.D.—was a navy flyer during the war, married a Swainsboro girl, and earned his law degree at Emory University.

Harry had a solution to this situation, the likes of which I've never heard. He was joking, of course, but the plan has its prize points.

He advocated retirement of all people 25 years old. "People that age," he said, "are eager for amusement and relaxation and young enough to make the most of it."

"Then let the folks 35 and up work to earn the money and pay the taxes, which will make it possible for the younger group to retire. By the time a person's 35, he's too intent on the world and too set in his ways to relax at some seaside resort."

Now Harry had something I've heard him, who worked for firms which retired employees at 65, say (when that day came around), "I'm just going to fish and putter around the house — do all the things I've never had time to do," and later, I've seen them rocking on a front porch, miserable because they had no daily routine to follow—unhappy because their children wouldn't let them garden in the sunshine because of the intense heat, or assist with chores because they were alone.

When you've practiced hard work for years, it's hard to get out of the habit, but I'm not that far gone. Believe me, I would welcome the chance to relax and would relish a little less responsibility just as much as an older person longs for something to keep him busy and make him feel important.

Any discussion on work always reminds me of one my father and brother had when John graduated from Tech. Daddy said, "Well, John, I'm proud of you—and I'm relieved. It's time hard work to supply the money to educate you and now the job is finished."

"In fact, if you drive with a heavy foot, you'll get in trouble with the law."

"For when your car leaves a town, you get a ticket with the time of departure stamped on it. At the next town you must show the ticket to the police."

"If you have arrived too soon, you have broken the law."

"A little inconvenient, having to punch out and in, but not a bad idea at that."

Evalyn Simmons Brings Jane to Date on Bellvue

BELLEVUE SPEAKS

By JANE

"I stand by the side of the river
That's salt with the tang of the sea,
There's never a port of any sort
But sends her sons to me,
To me from the ships on the river
They come to be based of their pain
But when they at length regain their strength
They're off to the ships again.

"I stand by the side of a current That's deeper far than the sea
And storm-beaten craft of every draught
Come to be healed by me.
But some have more sin than fever,
And some have more grief than pain;
God help me make, whole, both body and soul
Before they go out again!"

My interest in Bellevue was aroused while reading John Marquand's "Point of No Return." In it I discovered a modest calling card. The name on the card had been scratched out, but I easily read "Mrs. Nelson Rockefeller"—the written signature was not so easily read. The "M" resembled either a pitcher or an egg wearing a visor, while the "N" at the end of "Marry" was a perfect blown-up balloon; the "K" in "Rockefeller" was a lovely "K" and one "L" was infinitesimal, while the other was ambitious; it soared like the Empire building. The "er" turned out to be twin peaks very pointed. Curiosity might have killed a cat, but it didn't kill me. I promptly asked Evalyn Simmons and promptly discovered that the book was a gift from Mary Rockefeller. She also admitted having received an enormous bottle of "Twined" from Mrs. Harrison Tweed. I supposed, after I read the list of the board of managers of the Nursing Home—who do wonderful things for Bellevue Nursing Home—that the members of the board are all women—and all multi-millionaires. Some poor ones may not have over a million. The only reason Evalyn didn't get an elevator was the fact that she had no space to put it unless she and "Nancy," her cocker spaniel, moved out, for I saw Mrs. Harold Otis' name on the list. I could identify Mrs. John J. McCloy, whose husband is or was president of the World Bank. I was interested to find also Mrs. George S. Franklin, Paul's brother George, of Boston, who visits here every summer, ought to write her a letter. Maybe she could tell him the father of Pennell Franklin, who would be the great-great-grandfather of these very young Franklins in Statesboro and Bulloch County.

The establishment dates back to the time when New York City was Amsterdam and was church-supported in a building which served as a poor house. This charity and a hospital, built by the West Indies Company, were the roots from which Bellevue sprang. This was in 1598. It stood where City Hall now stands. In 1794 the city purchased a stretch of property along the East river, and built a "Fest House" to care for victims of "Yellow Jack." Because of the beautiful view it became "Bellevue." There followed a period of sordid details of investigations, but improvements were steady. An eminent doctor, at his own expense, spent three weeks at the Nightingale School of Nursing in Saint Thomas in England to study the Nightingale System. He brought back with him a letter of instructions from Miss Nightingale. "This letter," someone said, "we have always regarded as the Constitution of our school."

Art of Nursing
"At first nursing was not considered an art. Nurses were slaves in Homer's time; Christian deaconesses in the time of the Pagan Temple of Aphrodite; cloistered nuns in Paris, Sisters of Charity of Saint Vincent's de Paul; nuns in London who became assistants in the great-great-grandfather of these very young Franklins in Statesboro and Bulloch County.

Have you ever visited the nurses' homes here? I haven't. Why not form a committee with members of every religious, civic, professional women, social clubs in town and study ways and means, and then go into action. If you are interested in such a board—we'll not say managers—please call Mrs. Ernest Brannen at 212.

I hope that you read this brief history, for having read it, women in Statesboro and Bulloch County may have aspirations and dreams of emulating these women in New York City. We may not have millions, but within our means we can do much to make our nurses homes more livable and attractive; we can add to the recreation and pleasure of the nurses; we can add entertainment features that are wholesome and not boring. We can, in various ways, express appreciation for their services.

Bellevue School of Nursing

Dates from 1871. At Bellevue the first class, six nurses graduated in 1875. In 1948 there were 120 graduates. There are, at present, 1,500 nurses serving the hospital and Bellevue occupied approximately 15 city blocks. Miss Linda Richards, "America's first trained nurse," was once a night supervisor there, and she was instrumental in the beginning of "charity." At present there are three chapels for religious services, each fully staffed. The Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant churches are represented. The off-duty nurses get a free trip to Jones Beach once each week. There are tennis courts, swimming pools, and badminton courts. They enjoy softball and basketball. The largest campus perform on Bellevue campus. Before that quaint cap is placed, each and all make the "Nightingale" pledge.

"I solemnly pledge myself before God and in the presence of this assembly, to pass my life in purity, and to practice my profession faithfully. I will abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous, and will not take or knowingly administer any harmful drug. I will do all in my power to maintain and elevate the standard of my profession, and will hold in confidence all personal matters committed to my keeping, and all family affairs coming to my knowledge in the practice of my calling. With loyalty to my work, and devote myself to the welfare of those committed to my care."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Whitey Stops An Epidemic

Whitey Fisher ran into real trouble with his baby chicks a couple of weeks ago. "Bunch of them had colds," he told me. "Started running around like crazy and going into convulsions."

Luckily Whitey's a wide-awake boy. Without wasting any time, he isolated the funny-acting chicks, and sent a couple of them to the State Veterinarian for a check-up. Turned out they had Newcastle Disease. But—because Whitey was on the ball—the rest of the flock was saved.

It pays to keep your eyes open, and act fast whenever you see something that isn't right. Reminds me of all the precautions tavern owners are taking these days, to make sure their places stay clean, bright and trouble-free.

Because from where I sit, no matter what business you're in, it's best to keep a sharp look-out—make sure things are always up to snuff. That way you know your investment will "stay healthy."

1949 Tobacco Crops Set At 131,708,000 Pounds

Auctioning of the 1949 crop of blue-cured tobacco began Tuesday when the Georgia and Florida markets opened. Sales began on July 22 on these markets last year and ended on August 31.

As of July 1, the U. S. Crop Reporting Board estimated the 1949 crop of Georgia and Florida blue-cured tobacco to be 131,708,000 pounds. If this production is realized the crop would exceed the 111,634,000 pounds produced last year by almost 18 per cent. Also, it would be the second largest of this type in history being surpassed only by the 1947 harvest. Production in an all blue-cured type this year is expected to be 1,155,058,000 pounds as against 1,089,584,000 pounds in 1948.

The United States Department of Agriculture reports that producers' sales in the Georgia and Florida blue-cured belt last year amounted to 120,690,013 pounds averaging $47.48 a hundred. Total blue-cured sales were 1,082,197,987 pounds for a $50.01 average. Quality of the Georgia and Florida crop is reported to be good—even better than last year. Production of the crop got off to an early start with an ample supply of healthy plants. Heavier applications of fertilizer were made this year than ever before, and the per acre is estimated to be the greatest on record. The crop has ripened fast and an unusually large amount of tobacco is ready for sale. Volume of sales is expected to be very heavy when the markets open.

Legion Post Drive Begins August 1

Dexter Allen Post No. 90 of the American Legion, at Statesboro, will begin its first major drive for 1950 members on August 1, according to Post Commander Harrison H. Olliff.

The commander pointed out that the local legion post is joining with more than 300 others posts in Georgia to sign up a record number of eligible veterans as Legionnaires during the 1949-50 Legion year which started in June.

It was pointed out by Commander Olliff that all war veterans who were regularly enlisted, drafted or inducted or commissioned and who were accepted for and assigned to active duty in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, or Coast Guard of the United States at some time during the periods April 6, 1917-November 11, 1918, or December 7, 1941-September 2, 1945, are eligible for membership in the American Legion, provided these veterans were discharged under honorable conditions. He pointed out that all eligible veterans may apply for membership in the Statesboro Post.

Applications for 1950 membership in the Post are being taken by Post Adjutant Dr. Ed Smart at 8 Seibald street, Statesboro, and by several other membership workers, including the following:

New Schedule Set For Ogeechee League Teams

The Ogeechee League has officially changed its schedule for the remainder of the season, according to an announcement made this week by A. W. Stockdale, secretary of the organization.

Two teams—Millen and Thomson—dropped out of the league because of financial difficulties. These drop-outs caused league officials to re-schedule the remaining games. Games scheduled for tonight (Thursday) will be not be affected, but beginning tomorrow (Friday) night the new line-up goes into effect.

Under the revised slate, the league season closes August 15, with the play-offs to start as soon thereafter as arrangements can be made. Mr. Stockdale stated that any player with Thomson or Millen may now be signed by any other team in the league. Here is the revised schedule: Friday, July 29—Savannah at Statesboro, Metter at Sylvania, Swainsboro at Jesup and Glenville at Wrightsville.

August 1—Statesboro at Statesboro, Sylvania at Metter, Jesup at Swainsboro, and Wrightsville at Glenville.

August 2—Glenville at Statesboro, Sandersville at Sylvania, Metter at Jesup and Swainsboro at Wrightsville.

August 3—Statesboro at Glenville, Sylvania at Sandersville, Jesup at Metter and Wrightsville at Swainsboro.

August 4—Jesup at Statesboro, Wrightsville at Sylvania, Sandersville at Metter and Swainsboro at Glenville.

August 5—Statesboro at Jesup, Sylvania at Wrightsville, Metter at Sandersville and Glenville at Swainsboro.

DOTTIE HARGROVE—

Continued from editorial page. Before he could say anything more, John studied Daddy and, with a smile in his voice, said, "Yes, Pop, you've worked hard all these years to make money for me—I think it's time you concentrated on making some for yourself!"

All's Fair

Dick Tracy held down to one gun. Call had recently fallen into the habit of slipping away to visit his neighbors. His grandmother, Clyde Call, (Mrs. Willard) happened to be there one morning when Call went calling without advising his mother, and Clyde took a little switch and nettled his legs. Call went screaming to his mother, "Mama! spanked on me with a switch that had ants in it!" . . .

MRS. BILL ADAMS and her children, Bill and Sara, were browsing in the library lately. Mrs. Bill became deeply engrossed in a book on flowers and the children were getting restless until they discovered the records of children's stories. "Whoopie! Bill shouted, 'Can you check these out?' When Isabel Sorrier assured him that he could, he promptly signed up for "Treasure Island," and Sara checked the "Baber Stories." . . .

BROWSING IN the library pays off. I met Mrs. Foxhall, who for many years spends several weeks during the summer down here. She was delighted with our new library building. She is a member of the library board at her home in Tarboro, N. C., and says that they have been trying to get a nice library building there, but so far, they had not succeeded. We advise her to contact Mrs. Dorman, Mrs. Fred Hodges, Miss Eunice Lester, and many others who can tell her how it's done . . .

THIS WEEK we stopped by to get a look-see at the rustic garden and the log cabin at the rear of the Bannah Cowarts' home. We saw Lucindy, the colored mammy, who, atop the weather vane, washes clothes when the wind is up. I saw the rock-lined pool where a crane and a duck are not must interested in the gold fish swimming around. Water pours over a mill-wheel at the side of the miniature grist mill. We crossed a rustic bridge, made safe for night-driving, by a lantern gone modern. There were pots and cauldrons right out of Macbeth. A rustic well with wooden bucket and gourd, turned out to be a barbecue pit. The large table had a farm bell nearby which Mrs. Cowarts admits she dares not ring when she is serving an outdoor supper, lest she has to feed the fire department and all the volunteers.

We saw the recreation room at the cabin. On the knotty pine walls were a tomahawk, a picture of Minnehaha, lamps made from tree roots, flower bowls from gourds, and a small model of a "Red Ripper" hay press. This mule-powered press was the invention of Mrs. Cowart's father, the late Elder Sikes. The Sikes Manufacturing Company was located in Ocala, Fla., and the presses were shipped to practically every state in the United States.

As Ever,
JANE.

City Almost Leads the Nation In Year's Retail Sales Figures

Business may look bad—especially from the business man's point of view—but figures this week tell a different story.

Statesboro is now one of the top cities in the entire nation for its size—and perhaps the top city—inssofar as retail sales, per capita, are concerned. And the average family income is only slightly less than the entire national average.

That's the information contained in a letter from the United States Department of Commerce to the Statesboro Chamber of Commerce.

The department reported that a survey recently completed and tabulated, shows Statesboro's retail sales figures climbed to $13,849,000 in 1947 to $14,071,000 last year. These figures mean Statesboro is right at the top in the nation and is in first place in the state in retail sales, when you consider its population.

Joseph G. Stoval, district manager for the department, told the Chamber of Commerce that while the population of Bulloch county showed a slight loss of some 300 persons during 1947-48, the effective buying income of the people increased from $15,588,000 to $16,046,000. This means that more than sixteen million dollars was available in the county last year for buying things.

The average family income in the county continues to rise, Mr. Stoval's letter related. It rose from $2,935 in 1947 to $2,971 last year. The national average family income is only $3,200, which makes the county's average about $229 less than the nation's figure.

The letter indicated that conditions of this sort make Statesboro and Bulloch county a healthy trading center.

of the planes "will be opened up" to full speed in a low-level flight across the field.

A schedule has been worked out whereby there will be no delays in the various acts. One performer will be ready as soon as the one before has finished. A parking plan has been worked out in cooperation with the State Patrol and the County Police. This will enable spectators to park as close to the planes as possible.

Various manufacturers of civil planes are expected to bring models to the field for inspection. Some of the outstanding plans of the show include a squadron of jets flying in close formation at full speed across the field, a squadron of Navy dive bombers putting on a simulated attack with blank ammunition; high speed acrobatics of fighter planes; acrobatics by a civilian flyer, including loops, rolls, and inverted climbs, and a "wing-walk" in which a man will stand on the wing of a plane during take-off and stay there during two loops by the plane.

Congressman Prince H. Preston is cooperating with the local unit in procuring as many planes as possible for the show.

Georgia farmers produced more than 108 million pounds of flue-cured tobacco in 1948. The crop sold for an average of 47.45 cents per pound.

Statesboro Junior Chamber Of Commerce

WEEKLY NEWS REPORT

Miss Greta Rouse, field representative for USO, will speak to the Junior Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at the Forest Heights Country Club. She will tell about the USO work and will discuss the campaign for funds, slated to start in October.

Bulloch county has 261 boys in religious, and moral support they need.

Three Statesboro civic leaders, Mrs. Jessie Averitt, Byron Dyer, and D. B. Turner will also be present at Wednesday meeting and will discuss the work done by the USO in Statesboro during the last war.

Patronize the following members of the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce. Each is working for a better Statesboro and Bulloch County. Let's all boost our City and County. Tell other Georgians of the advantages we have in Greater Bulloch County:

'TV' May Come to Us Yet; But Don't Rush Things

By WORTH McDOUGALD

Someday in the not-so-distant future—say 1960 for a conservative estimate—we here in Bulloch county may catch up with our city cousins in one respect. We may have honest-to-godness television, complete not only with "big-time" talent, but with a lot of local yokels to help pass away a dull hour or two at night.

All of this is in the realm of possibility. And it's highlighted this week by a story appearing in the daily papers. In Washington the Federal Communications Commission—the John L. Lewis of the radio and television industry—announced that tentatively (and get that tentatively) a television channel has been awarded to Statesboro.

Now, that, in itself, doesn't mean much. So I dug into the matter—and, well, just stuck around a few paragraphs or so and let's see what this may mean for this particular segment of the Empire-State-of-the-South, Where Nature-Smiles and Progress-Has-the-Right-of-Way.

We'll start explaining it in this manner: On each train track it is generally agreed that only one train can run in the same place at the same time. And that's the way with television—there are just a certain number of "tracks" or "channels" available in the television "band." Each station gets one "track" or "channel" and no other station within a reasonable distance—say 100 miles—can be on the same "channel." This naturally limits the number of television stations—and so far the FCC has only assigned space to the larger cities where enough advertising can be sold to help foot the bill.

Come now, though, a new theory. This theory says there is more space available for television in the radio band by going to a higher "frequency" or "channel." And this week the FCC has, as we said, tentatively agreed with this idea or theory.

This means they "have" poured over map after map of state after state and have worked out an arrangement whereby cities the size of Statesboro can have a "channel" of their own.

This does not mean that a television station is necessarily in the offing for Bulloch county. Far from it. Future magazine, the current issue, has gone rather thoroughly into the cost of constructing a television station. And they have set the MINIMUM practicable cost at $448,436—which is quite a hunk of dough in anybody's language. Now this cost of operation, which has been figured conservatively at $18,168 per month. This multiplied by 12 give a figure of $218,016 to the cost and the total expense to the first year of a television station will be $666,452—which

NOTICE TO ALL DELINQUENT TAXPAYERS

A continuous drive to collect all delinquent State and County taxes is now underway. All taxpayers have been sufficiently notified to pay these taxes and the Sheriff has been directed to levy and advertise for sale the property of all delinquent taxpayers, unless same are paid before August 15, 1949.

The drive, so far, has proven very satisfactory. Those who have paid had to strain a point to pay, so you, who have not paid, help carry the burden and pay yours on or before the 15th day of August, 1949.

Look!—Local Ladies Lead Local Laddies

If you young ladies are looking for a husband, then maybe you'd better leave Statesboro—for the picking might be a bit better outside of town. Statesboro's white female population exceeds its white male population by some 300 persons.

That's what a survey completed this week by a sociology class at Georgia Teachers College shows. The final tabulations have been completed and they show 54.7 per cent of the white population is female, while the remaining 45.3 per cent is male. Translated into figures this means there are 2,080 females in town and only 1,790 men, which might make husband-hunting a bit difficult.

The survey showed a total white population of 3,870 but this figure is expected to rise somewhat. Approximately 25 families were not contacted due to their being away from the city on vacation.

The project was undertaken by the class as a special research project. A questionnaire was prepared and personal visits made to each home in the city.

Interesting figures revealed by the survey show that in only one age group do the men outnumber the women. And that's in the age limit above 76. In contrast to this, the number of women, as compared to men, in the 66-to-75-year age group, is 3 to 1. That means nearly three times as many women in this group as men. Between 16 and 25, the so-called "marriable age," the ratio was three women for each two men.

The largest number of people, both male and female, fall in the 26-to-35 age group. Even more girls are born than boys, it would seem, for in the 1-to-5-year group a slightly higher proportion exists.

Thirteen members of the class participated in the survey. They include William Claude Hickson, Billy Tyre, Nolle Wyse, Cyril
Hamm, Howard Evans, Irene Deese, Douglas Daniel, Gene Trappell, James C. Pennington, Laurie Bush, Clayton Drubberry, Betty Walden and Margaret Coleman.

P.C.A. Helps 4-H Get Purebred Pigs

Indications are that some 40 to 50 Bulloch county 4-H Club boys will purchase purebred gilts that have already been bred through the cooperative effort of the Production Credit Association.

Josh T. Nesmith and W. H.
Smith recently stated that the Statesboro Production Credit Association would work with them.
The boys met with the county agents and the PCA officials Saturday to work out final details for the money to pay for the pigs.

Walter Aldred, president of the Chamber of Commerce, is asking some member of his group to serve as an advisor to the clubsters and to visit the clubster and his project at least twice during the next 12 months.

The clubsters are interested in the project from several angles.
First, they think they can make some money and at the same time be increasing the number of good hogs in the county. They plan to take the proceeds from these gilts and put it into better heifers as years go along. Then, too, they will have a chance to prove to Statesboro businessmen that they can grow good projects that are renumerative to themselves as well as to help their communities.

These boys live in all sections of the county. The blue-blooded hogs will make available to anyone that wants purebreds the breed they want right at home.

Mr. Smith stated that it is purely a business proposition and that the boys will be doing big business as farmers before long. Starting off now to learn some of the principles involved in borrowing money and the necessity of keeping up with their obligations will also be good training for them.

The Chamber of Commerce will assign its members as advisors when the boys entering the better hog movement are definitely known.

County Commissioners Approve Typhus Control

The Board of County Commissioners has approved and accepted the typhus fever control program for Bulloch county for another 12 months, according to Raymond Summerlin of the U.S.
Public Health Service. Mr. Sum-merlin is director of the typhus control program in this area.

He pointed out that the program has been in operation in the county since January of 1946.
There are now two full-time employees of the county engaged in the work, along with one Public Health official who does part-time work in the county. The cost is borne by the county, the State Department of Public Health, and the U. S. P.H.S.

During the present year only one case of typhus fever has been reported, and it was contracted by one of the men engaged in the control work. Several years ago in Bulloch county alone the count was more than 50 cases.

The program fights the disease by destroying flea-carrying rats and by attacking the fleas directly.

LEAF

More Tobacco Now Sold in Single Day Than During Entire Season in 1928

The tremendous growth of the Statesboro tobacco market since the first year in 1928 is almost unbelievable. Each day's sales this summer are bringing growers more money than the entire crop brought in the first year's selling period.

After many years of hard work most $300,000 daily and selling more than a half million pounds each day.
Many have asked why the local market has grown so rapidly.
The answer lies in the fact that there has been so much concentrated work behind this market.
Beginning with two warehouses, with about 69,000 square feet of floor space, the market today has eight large warehouses with 485, 000 square feet of floor space.

For a long time the local market led the entire list of one-set-of-buyers markets in the state.
Then came a long, hard fight to get two sets of buyers.

When the two-sets-of-buyers market became a reality the growers, warehousemen, and local citizens really went to work, and in 1946, as well as in 1948, the Statesboro market led the state in pounds sold.

The situation has not always been so rosy on the Statesboro market. The lean years of 1931 and 1932 discouraged even some of the most hardy. In 1931 this market sold only 1,812,582 pounds (about two good sales days this week) and this sold for only $113, 190.96.

This amount was more than twice paid out on opening day here Tuesday. In that lean year of 1931 the average price was only $6.24 per hundred. In 1932 only 527,504 pounds were sold, bringing only $41,055.55.

Statesboro did not reach the million-dollar income mark until 1938 and by 1945 the income figures had jumped to more than three and a half million.

Cobb and Foxhall Here For 22nd Year

When the Statesboro tobacco market opened Tuesday morning, W. E. Cobb and H. P. Foxhall began their twenty-second season on the local scene.

Both these warehousemen have stacked up almost twenty-five years of experience in the operation of tobacco warehouses.

Back in 1928 when the States-boro market was established, Mr.
Cobb and Mr. Foxhall operated two small houses totaling 60,000 square feet. These were owned by the Statesboro Tobacco Warehouse Company. In 1938 these two purchased the warehouse and began operating them as owners.

They also operate the warehouses of Joe Tillman and Walter Aldred on South College st.
The total floor space operated by Cobb and Foxhall amounts to 180,000 square feet.

Sheppard Selling

In Two Warehouses

R. E. (Rob) Sheppard and Aubert Brannen are back on the Statesboro Tobacco market again this year operating two of the bright leaf belt's largest warehouses—Sheppards No. 1, located on South College street, and Sheppards No. 2 on South Zet-terower avenue.

This is the eighteenth consecutive year that Sheppards warehouses have handled the golden leaf in this city.

Back in 1938 Mr. Sheppard completed No. 1 building, considered as one of the more modern in the belt. Containing 105, 000 square feet, it created great interest throughout the state.

Soon after the war Mr. Sheppard and Mr. Brannen completed Warehouse No. 2, which is even larger than No. 1.

It contains more than 115,000
square feet.

Bids Growers Welcome 'New Statesboro'

In 1945 a new tobacco warehouse was built in Statesboro and this large selling house added to the total floor space of the market. It contained 70,000 square feet of sales space and became known as "The Statesboro Tobacco Warehouse."

Operated this year by J. Paul Bishop, C. P. Brewer and Cecil Wooden, the "New Statesboro" warehouse goes by the motto of "Personal Service and High Prices."

Growers will find a genuine welcome and an interest in getting the most for their tobacco at this warehouse located on Hill street, across from Collins Frezer Locker.

Statesboro Girls at Junior Red Cross Camp

Miss Fayrene Sturgis, daughter of Mrs. Nina Sturgis of States- boro, and Miss Annie Ruth Lord, RFD, Statesboro, are spending 10 days at the Junior Red Cross Training Center which is being held this year at Camp Mac, Tal- ladega, Ala.

Fayrene is a student at States- boro High School and was active in the Red Cross Council in the school last year. Annie Ruth, a student at the Laboratory High School, did good work with de- signing and making articles for the Veterans Hospital in Dublin. Both girls are being sent by the Bulloch County Junior Red Cross Chapter. As a result of the social atmosphere and academic training, they will be better equipped to lead in Junior Red Cross activities in their respec- tive schools this fall.

SEVEN QUALIFY FOR ARMY AND AIR FORCE

Seven local and area men, who were former high school gradu- ates, qualified for military ser- vice, according to a report receiv- ed today from the Statesboro Army and Air Force recruiting station.

Signing for three-year tours of duty in the Regular Army-unas- signed were Ret. William E. Hod- ges, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hodges, of Route 1, Brooklet; Ret. Ralph D. Hagan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hagan of Ogeechee, and Ret. Doy B. Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Allen Knight of Port.

Qualifying for the Air Force were Pvt. William A. Driggers, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Drig- gors of Glenville, and Pvt. Ash- ley L. Skinner, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Skinner of Route 2, Sylvania.

The Corps of Engineers was the choice of Ret. Charles L. Helmuth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Hel- muth of Route 1, Brooklet, and Ret. Artie D. Clifton, son of Mr. Benjamin S. Clifton of 305 West Main Street, Statesboro.

The foregoing applicants attend- ed schools in their respective areas where they held class offices and participated in athletic activi- ties. In addition, several of the men were currently affiliated with the National Guards.

MAYBE IT'S JUST BECAUSE

Maybe it's just because we kinda like to brag. Maybe we're just prejudiced because our springs don't sag. Maybe we've been lucky 'cause our covers stand up longer. Maybe it's coincidence our hardware frames are stronger.

Maybe it's the lights we burn that make our suites look brighter. Maybe imagination make our styles look righter!

But whatever is the reason, that's where we're lucky or plain smart. It seems just like common sense when you take our suites apart.

There's one thing we can't figure and you'd probably like to know . . . It's kind of hard to understand what make our prices low.

'Cause our suites have just everything and some a little more. So come and take a gander at the styles upon our floor!

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walden and Miss Carol Walden of Atlanta spent a few days here with Mr. and Mrs. John A. Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Barnes and little son and Miss Dorothy Barnes of Boston, Mass., are spending two weeks here with Mr. and Mrs. John Shuman.

Robert Minick, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Minick, is at his home here following an operation in Bulloch County Hospital.

Miss Jimmie Lou Williams is visiting relatives in Savannah.

Mrs. M. F. Hendrix, Mrs. John McCormick, Miss Myrona Hendrix, June and Kay McCormick spent a few days at St. Simon with Mrs. J. M. Pope.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kelly and two sons and Miss Sally Fordham of Birmingham, Ala., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Fordham.

Mrs. Roland Moore has returned to her home here after receiving treatment in Bulloch County Hospital.

Miss Betty Jo Wilson has returned home after spending several weeks in North Carolina with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Denmark and family attended the Arnold-Prosser wedding in Pembroke Sunday afternoon. Miss Joyce Denmark was an attendant in the wedding.

A group of some 12 of the Register Farm Bureau members voted to hold an evening class on building pastures. Mr. Gay has some color slides on the work lined up and will use them in the short course.

The Register group also discussed the tobacco situation and plans for the referendum. They continued their efforts to raise ample money to finish the outdoor picnic area, which is now cleaned off but needs sodding to grass and some tables along with the outdoor furnace. Cecil Kennedy, the president, reported that they had some $130 pledged to the work already. The group will try to get the school grounds fenced before next spring.

Both these Farm Bureaus used the motion picture, "Joel Gentry Goes to Hollywood," as a part of their program.

"Nancy II" Enters Third Year on Road

With Nancy Hanks, II, beginning her third year of operation, every effort will be continued to maintain the high level of service and courtesy which has become characteristic of this train, according to a representative of the Central of Georgia Railway in Statesboro this week.

The railway management, he said, is appreciative of the patronage from Statesboro and surrounding territory, and is desirous of being as helpful as possible in any way to travelers.

Streamliner Nancy celebrated her birthday Sunday, July 17, and at the end of these years, had handled 354,839 passengers, proof that streamliner train service, at low round-trip fares, is needed and desired in Georgia.

That these trains have been successful is also important to the Central itself, for Nancy alone is a million-dollar investment, and her operation costs per day are $1,000. Thus, for service to be assured over a long period of time, it was essential that Nancy Hanks and Man-O-War, when they were inaugurated two years ago, meet with instant success, which, of course, is what happened.

One feature which has proven extremely popular is the low round-trip fares on Central of Georgia trains. They are cheaper than the cost of gasoline to make the same trip in an automobile.

How to keep cool
—and carefree

This time of year there's one place a lot cozier and cooler than your favorite spot around the house.

That's in your Buick—finding a breeze along dusk-cooled highways, or following those little roads that lead to inviting "loafing grounds."

Either way, whichever pleasure trail you follow, you'll find more fun on the way if your Buick is in top-flight shape to take the miles in its steady stride.

How about letting us put it in that shape for you?

Get one of our conscientious motor tune-ups, and one of our thorough-going Lubricare treatments. We'll put the bounce back in your motor—while we're taking the bounce out of your ride.

We do this well because we're Buick men. We know your Buick, we've studied correct factory methods for each operation, we know the factory specifications your car was built to. We use genuine Buick parts—even special Buick tools!

Yet you don't pay a penny more for all these extras. Stop in this week, won't you?

HOW HIGH IS A TUNE-UP?

Our Buick tune-ups go far beyond adjusting your spark and carburetor. We cover a long list of things—your valve tappets, voltage regulator, fuel pump filter, coil, hose connections, and so on.

We even tighten the cylinder head and clean off your battery terminals—and do all this at a low, low rate price that will surprise you!

DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF STATESBORO AND BULLOCH COUNTY

Statesboro, Georgia, Thursday, August 4, 1949

NUMBER 31

Pecan Growers Meet Monday at Courthouse

Pecan growers and handlers will meet at the courthouse in Statesboro Monday, August 8, at 3 p.m. to discuss the proposed pecan marketing agreement.

Representatives from the Production Marketing Administration, Extension Service, and Georgia Farm Bureau will attend the meeting and bring those interested in pecans up-to-date on the latest information regarding the referendum which will be held in the near future.

Every pecan grower in Bulloch county interested in helping to set up a marketing agreement, that will help prevent adverse prices, is urged to attend.

Lockwood Tells Rotarians About City's Recreation Program; Says Community Is at Crossroads and Must Make a Decision

Max Lockwood, superintendent of recreation for the city, addressed members of the Rotary Club at their regular Monday meeting. Mr. Lockwood told the group that the recreation program was now at a crossroads and he said it could go either to the left, to the right, or continue straight ahead.

In his talk to the club, Mr. Lockwood reviewed the history of the recreation organization. He said that during the first season it operated with less than $25 in cash. During the present year various civic clubs have underwritten the cost of operation and have contributed some $1,000 of standstill position and not move any further.

If the recreational undertaking moves straight ahead, Mr. Lockwood said, the department will move forward with progress as its goal.

In his talk to the club, Mr. Lockwood reviewed the history of the recreation organization. He said that during the first season it operated with less than $25 in cash. During the present year various civic clubs have underwritten the cost of operation and have contributed some $1,000 of arts, and crafts to the young people at no cost to the program. members of the East Side club, 300 persons are taking swimming lessons. Of this number, 100 are ladies from 25 to 65 years of age. All of them are now able to swim, whereas 85 per cent could not swim before taking the instruction. These ladies have contributed $130, unsolicited, for the recreation program. The money will be used to develop the East Side community recreation project.

Mr. Lockwood expressed thanks to Rotary members for their share of the $500 playground equipment

Guard Air Show Draws 100 Planes

More than one hundred airplanes are expected to join the Statesboro airport today, August 14, as the National Guard-sponsored air show gets underway. Final plans for the show are being made this week.

Guest officials said they are attempting to secure the services of a noted parachute jumper, who leaves a plane at 7,000 feet and falls more than a mile before he opens his chute.

Another big feature planned is the bringing of a biplane to Statesboro. The biplane is being flown by a man from a downtown street or building roof and deposit him at the airport without ever touching the ground.

Final arrangements have been made for the fleet of jet planes to be in for the show. The jets will be on the ground during part of the show and the public will have a chance to see them at close range. Seven FV2 Navy bombers are expected from the Jacksonville Naval Air Station.

Mr. Henry, who is well known in aviation circles in this part of the country, will bring his stunt-flying troupe to Statesboro with him for the show and they will perform many daring acts in the air, such as walking on the wing of a plane.

Those who do not have transportation to the show or who do not wish to drive, need not worry. Guard officials say they will have transportation for all who would like to go. The vehicles will leave the courthouse starting at 8. They will bring passengers back to town after the show is completed.

There will be refreshments at the field and the show is expected to last some three hours. Tickets are now on sale at stores over Statesboro. Proceeds will go towards building a lighted drill field for the school.

Local Jaycee Body Considers Projects

The Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce this week has been asked to back several projects in the interest of the community. The board of directors will meet early next week to consider the undertakings.

The USO has asked the Jaycees to undertake the job of raising some $1,000 for USO activities in the coming year. Miss Greta Rouse, a USO field representative from Jesup, spoke to the club yesterday and asked that they consider the matter.

Alfred Dorman presented a plan for erecting several roadside highway lunch and picnic tables. He said the Rotary club would like to join the Jaycees, the Lions club and the Chamber of Commerce in erecting such picnic areas on every side of the city on all the major highways.

A third promotion plan has been presented to the club. The plan is for publicizing and promoting U. S. Highway 25, which passes through Statesboro. The club has been asked to join with other interested parties from neighboring towns and hold a conference on the matter. Through concerted activity it is expected that tourist travel on Highway 25 may be substantially increased.

All local entities can contact either Mr. and Mrs. Boyd and make their arrangements now.

Bulloch Farmers Going to Tifton

Tuesday and Wednesday are the days set for a group of Bulloch county farmers to make their annual visit to the Coastal Plain Experiment Station at Tifton. The station director, George H. King, has arranged to have research men, in charge of field crops, livestock, and pastures, to take the group on tour.

George P. (Pete) Donaldson, formerly of Statesboro and now president of Abraham Baldwin College, said this week he could house and feed some 80 guests on the college campus. In the past he has had to limit the group to 40 because of limited space. There is no charge for the beds but a 50-cent charge is made for meals.

First Week's Sales Show Prices Down, Money Up

While tobacco prices, in general, have been off from last year's opening week, tabulations yesterday showed that growers have received more money in the first six days of the 1949 season than they did in the same length of time in 1948. The reason: greater sales.

A tabulation of figures, up to, and including Tuesday's sales on Statesboro, market show growers have sold 4,283,487 pounds of golden leaf, at an average price of $42.95 bringing $184,683.85.

Business seems to have picked up as a result of this large amount of money being released in Statesboro, but many merchants are quick to point out that growers are using the money to pay up back debts, rather than buy goods now.

A large amount of out-of-state tobacco has been sold on the local market. Almost every day there have been long lines of trucks waiting to unload, many of these bearing out-of-state tags. Market officials say they are predicting a short, but full, selling season pointing out that almost all of the tobacco is ready to sell at the present time. Warehousemen have been full for every sale since the market opened last Tuesday.

Following are official sale figures for the Statesboro market: Day lbs. sold amt. paid av. price. Tues. 678,066 $296,641.85 $43.73. Wed. 735,063 317,310.26 43.17. Thurs. 703,488 291,890.20 41.49. Fri. 687,146 286,576.43 41.11. Mon. 744,092 331,800.24 44.60. Tues. 725,292 316,369.87 43.62.

Planning Started For Horse Show

Plans are rapidly shaping up for the Lions Club's Third Annual Horse Show. A firm date has not yet been set for the show, but it is tentatively planned for early September.

Proceeds from the event go toward the club's sight conservation program. To-date, 158 needy people in the county have been given eye glasses by the club. An addition 69 persons have been examined but were found not to need glasses. Fifteen persons have had their eyes treated by specialists.

John E. Denmark and Alvin G. Rucker are co-chairmen for this year's show. Mr. and Mrs. Olliff Boyd have again been employed as show managers.

All local entities can contact either Mr. and Mrs. Boyd and make their arrangements now.

Ten FFA Members At Jackson Lake

Ten Bulloch F.F.A. members, representing the six chapters of the county, are attending the State F.F.A. convention at Jackson Lake, near Covington, this week. The purpose of the convention is to train F.F.A. leaders and officers and to provide a vacation-recreation period for the boys.

During the morning the boys will be trained in leadership practices and in building better F.F.A. chapters in their home counties. In the afternoons they will take part in many forms of recreation including swimming, tennis, baseball, badminton, and hiking.

Gordon Hendrix, agriculture instructor at Nevills, accompanied the group to Jackson Lake. They will return tomorrow (Friday).

Support Prices Set For Peanuts

Government-support prices for peanuts were announced this week in Washington, according to S. D. Groover of the East Georgia Peanut Company. Mr. Groover said support prices will be about the same as in 1948 for Spanish. Prices were announced at 17 cents per pound and peanuts will be supported at 90 per cent of this figure.

Farmers' stock prices for this year for Spanish type, grading 70 per cent meat, will be $209 per ton with $3 per point above 70 per cent and the same thing for each point below 70 per cent.

Virginia type will be $199 per ton for 65 per cent peanuts with $3.10 up or down from this for each point variation.

Runners will be $187 per ton for 65 per cent peanuts with $2.80 up or down for each point varied from number one grade.

All peanuts will be federally inspected this year with only 7 per cent moisture allowed. Moisture penalty will start at 7 1/2 per cent and a premium will be paid on peanuts running less than 6 1/2 per cent in moisture. No peanuts will be accepted under the support program if they run above 9 1/2 per cent in moisture content. This means peanuts must be dry this year.

These prices, said Mr. Groover, are not the prices necessarily that peanuts will sell for, but rather are the support prices the government will offer if higher prices are not offered on the commercial market.

County Agent Byron Dyer announced Saturday that the government had set cotton parity prices also. Support prices will be slightly less than last year, but middling inch cotton will be supported at 30.51 cents per pound.

Taylor Speaks to B & P W Leaders

Dr. Charles Taylor, an economist with the Federal Reserve Bank, Atlanta, addressed members of the board of directors of the Georgia Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, at Shorter College, Saturday, July 23. His talk was the concluding feature of a two-day board meeting in which legislative objectives and aims of the organization were mapped. Points in the legislative program, which was unanimously adopted, included a provision to strengthen and help raise health and safety standards; the reorganizing of all club members in compliance with the recent Georgia legislative act; to support the United Nations; a review of national legislation; and to encourage women to run for and be elected to public offices.

Miss Zula Gammage, who is an officer and a member of the board of directors of the Georgia Federation, attended the meeting in Rome. She also represented the Statesboro Business and Professional Women's Club as public affairs chairman.

Local GEA Officers Attend Workshop

Miss Ethel McCormick and Miss Cleo Edfield, president and public relations chairman respectively of the Local GEA Unit will attend the three-day workshop to be held at Jekyll Island August 14-17. Those attending will include some 400 classroom teachers, principals, superintendents, members of the state department of Education and University System.

The workshop will be presided over by GEA President Dr. O. C. Aderhold, and J. Harold Saxon, GEA executive secretary, will serve as director of the workshop, assisted by the GEA central office staff.

Major emphasis will be placed on Public Relations.
